Ranking of scientists in Turkish Institutions according to their Google Scholar Citations public profiles

Fourth edition

This edition was built with data collected during the first week of May 2015 from the public profiles of researchers working in Turkish(Turkey, Europe/Asia) institutions. It is a BETA Ranking of the scientists according to their declared (voluntarily) presence in the Google Scholar Citations database. We advise to those interested in appearing in future editions to sign into these databases, correcting and updating their public profiles.

There are still MANY gaps in the list, so please contact us (isidro.aguillo@csic.es) if you discover any of the errors for solving them promptly. You need to have a public profile like this:

<http://scholar.google.com/citations?user=SaCSbeoAAAAJ&hl=en>

The list consists of the Top 4000 profiles (including former PhD students and no-longer members who signed papers in the past with this affiliation) ranked first by h-index in decreasing order and, when ties appear, then by the total number of citations as a secondary criteria.

Google Scholar Citations Profiles

GS is a free very large bibliographic database that it is especially useful for bibliometric purposes as it provides the number (and lists them) of citations received by the items included. Its current size is over 160 million unique documents, many of them with links to openly available full-text versions). This is almost three times the current coverage of the paywalled competitors like WoS/Thomson or Scopus/Elsevier.

GS Citations is a tool for setting up author profiles of individuals and their publications as covered by GS. There are many advantages in generating your own profile using GSC. It is really very easy to use as you only need a Google account to start collecting your publications and the associated metrics. The system is very powerful and it guides you in every step offering candidate publications (with a very low error rate) and the possibility of merging, delete or adding records.

How to set up your own profile (and few advices and warnings)

There are several presentations with easy instructions that can help you in the process. We cite these two slides collections in English and Spanish:

- * How to set up your Google Scholar profile in Google Scholar Citations \(Sarah Goodier\)
- * Como crear perfil de investigador en Google Scholar Citations \(Julio Alonso Arévalo\)

Please, follow the following advices and take into account the warnings about nasty practices:

- Make the profile public!
- Delete duplicate old profiles. Entries marked # means there are other profiles for the same author. A number (arbitrary) after an author's name means there are two or more scientists with the same name.
- Identify yourself with your standard signature name (not inverse)
- Provide information about your affiliation, including institution name, city and COUNTRY
- Use an institutional email account

- Use keywords in English (about 5) for allowing comparisons with international colleagues
- Preferably, neither general terms (physics, chemistry, medicine) nor very specific ones
- Hey! DELETE all these entries not being authored by you!

Information about the updates

The rankings are updated without a fixed frequency. When the number of new profiles reach a 'critical mass' or an important mistake is discovered, then the data for the full list of the country scientists is collected. Although Google Scholar database is updated daily and many profiles can change abruptly in a few days it is both not feasible and not fair (for comparison purposes) to refresh individual accounts. Please, take into account that in fact changes can affect to many profiles and even a large increase in your citations or h-index personal count could mean you are losing ranks in the list when comparing with others with a faster growing rate!

This ranking has been funded by the Project ACUMEN.
